Top El Paso Plastic Surgeons Visit Miami

Plastic surgeons Dr. Frank Agullo and Dr. Humberto Palladino recently returned to their El Paso clinic after a trip to visit the popular "Dr. Miami" (aka Dr. Michael Salzhauer) in Florida. During their stay, they observed the ins-and-outs of Dr. Salzhauer's practice and networked to discuss the revolution of modern plastic surgery.

To ensure that Dr. Miami could enjoy a true taste of West Texas during their stay, Drs. Agullo and Palladino brought along a pair of Lucchese cowboy boots made specifically in his size!

As part of their visit, RealDrWorldWide and MagicSurgeon were inducted into the "Dr. Miami Squad." The eventful inauguration was documented on each of their SnapChat accounts. SnapChat is extremely popular with all three of the cosmetic specialists, as they frequently highlight before-and-after results, explain different types of surgical procedures, and, of course, give a shout out to all of their fellow snappers.

A Special Couple Makes Their Miami Debut

If anyone has followed Dr. Agullo for very long, they've likely seen Ken and Barbie (yes, that Ken and Barbie) frequently moonlight on his social media accounts...especially when he's traveling on business. Well, they went along on a trip to see Dr. Miami as well. Although they seemed to spend a bit more time having fun than working, as they apparently chose to sunbathe and build sand castles on the beach over supervising surgeries.

Dr. Palladino didn't lack sidekicks either. His followers are already quite familiar with cowboy Jimbo and his wife, Lupita. The colorful characters tend to make quite the entrance when they stop by his office to see him. However, only Lupita accompanied Dr. Palladino on the Miami trip (Jimbo was quite a sore sport about being left behind in Texas.) More than likely, you'll catch them party-crashing Dr. Palladino's SnapChat stories as a pair.

Networking with Leading Doctors Benefits El Paso Patients

As popular plastic surgeons, maintaining a stress-free practice and optimal patient care is extremely important. The reason why Dr. Agullo and Dr. Palladino's visit was so crucial was due to the team-building and mentoring process that went on between the three doctors.

Because of their extremely popular practices, lovable personalities, and extensive experience, each of the surgeons sees a rather heavy stream of patients in their day to day activities. As such, it's important to prioritize each patient experience and safety when they're managing the care of so many people. Each doctor shared important elements of what allows them to connect with their patients' needs while also running a practice as efficiently as possible.

Dr. Palladino's visit with Dr. Miami through SnapChat, Instagram, Twitter, and other major social media apps. On SnapChat, you can find the El Paso surgeons under the handles @RealDrWorldWide (Dr. Agullo) and @MagicSurgeon (Dr. Palladino)

Followers get a peek at the doctors' not-so-average days inside of their private cosmetic surgery clinic. Plus, if you snap them a message, they're likely to mention you during the shout outs at the end of the day. In addition to getting a chance to spot Ken and Barbie, you'll also have an opportunity to meet the staff behind-the-scenes and get an up close view of real live surgeries. Images are not for the faint of heart; but don't worry, they'll always warn you beforehand.
